

Chief Beef

Chief Beef is John Lipfert (guitars/vocals), Christine Lipfert (bass/vocals) and Stewart Alaniz (drums) and call Phoenix, AZ their home. Influenced by a wide array of music from the last 15 years, Chief Beef strives to create a more perfect rock band. Comparisons to other bands have been all over the map, but many draw parallels to modern rock bands which seem so pervasive in the American Midwest, such as Shiner, Houston, the Life and Times, Traindodge, and Riddle of Steel.

Like most bands, the members of Chief Beef were once recognized figures in other staple bands of the Phoenix rock scene, with names such as After Any Accident, and the Real Diffs Deluxe. Their first show in March 2005 was a resounding success with immediate positivity about the band and their sound. Over the next year and a half, the band played numerous shows around the Southwest and shared the stage with numerous national acts.

Chief Beef recorded their debut album, "Something About Rock" in June/July 2006. The album is 11 songs of solid rock and roll, with powerful guitars, bass and drums accented by melodic vocal harmonies. Recorded, mixed and mastered by veteran Larry Elyea at Mind's Eye Digital, whose studio work has won many awards and includes an impressive list of clients. The album was released October 13, 2006 and is available through CD Baby and on iTunes.

Chief Beef plans to tour regionally in support of the album.
