

CHIEF BEEF

Chief Beef is a rock band from Phoenix, AZ. We're three people who love rock so much that we had to make our own. We've been doing it for a few years now as Chief Beef, and for many years prior in other bands (Minibosses, After Any Accident, the Real Diff's Deluxe). It's something that we do for fun, and because we love it. For those reasons, we have no image we're trying to sell, no artificial hype to let you down, no bullshit.

Trends these days amongst independent bands seem to lean toward six, seven, eight people on stage at a time, creating layer upon layer of instrumentation. That's great, but we're not like that. We think it can be done with three. Even though John sometimes thinks another guitar player would be great, there isn't room in the Astro van for any more people or equipment. So, we stick with a guitar, a bass, some drums, vocal cords, and some amps to make everything loud, and it works great for us.

We've got a couple releases to our credit: a full length from October 2006 called Something About Rock, and a six song EP from February 2008 called Equilibrium. Both are self-released and available worldwide thanks to companies that cater to bands like us.

Chief Beef tours occasionally as breaks from bill-paying jobs allow. Look for us out there in 2008.
